securitum

START CONNECTION

#_SEC_STATUS_XX

HACKING IN PROGRESS

SCAN_IP

REQUEST

RECEIVED

CERTIFICATE

OF ATTENDANCE

MEGA SEKURAK HACKING PARTY

26TH–27TH OF OCTOBER 2026

FOR

Daria Zięba

AGENDA DAY 2

MAIN TRACK (DAY 2)

Marcin Piosek: Conclusions from conducting thousands of penetration tests – see your company through the attacker's eyes. 2026 Edition
Tomasz Zieliński ("Informatyk Zakładowy"): "Now anyone can program!" – said in 1959
Krzysztof Wosiński: OSINT battles with maps
Tomasz Turba: Multiverse of AI war: counterattacking agents with agents

CHILL TRACK (DAY 2)

Maciej Czubak: Why do scams work if everyone knows about them? Marketing of online scammers Maciej Czubak: Stolen money. What next? How cybercriminals monetise their actions
Kamil Mędzikowski: A single photo is enough to learn everything about you
Rafał Meisel: Most interesting AI incidents in 2026
Agata Ślusarek: Prompt, deceive, profit. Cybercrime in the AI era

WINDOWS SEC TRACK (DAY 2)

Grzegorz Tworek: In Process We Trust
Wiktor Szymanik: Fantastic backdoors – and where to find them
Marek Rzepecki: Domain controller is just a name. Practical privilege escalations via identity attributes in AD, 2000–2026

WEBSEC TRACK (DAY 2)

Michał Bentkowski: PageBreak, or how we found 500+ XSS vulnerabilities in Google applications using AI
Kamil Jarosiński: Paper safe. Why good cryptography is so hard
Rafał Błaszczyk: Typosquatting – when typos stop being an accident

HACKER'S TOOLKIT TRACK (DAY 2)

Krystian Działowy: Payload in firmware: How to hide malware where no one looks (in your router)
Piotr Rzeszut: Physical pentester's pocket
Jakub Żoczek: Red Teaming – (almost) all tricks allowed
Paweł Maziarz: What a hacker has in their backpack... What is worth having during an operation vs every day

SEKURAK.ACADEMY TRACK (DAY 2)

Jan Kaczmarczyk: AI meets Breaking Bad, or how artificial intelligence could help avoid penalties for poor AML
Anna Zwiefka: OSINT: narrative, trust, and modern abuses
Bartosz Osuch: From magnet to laser, or hardware hacking. A collection of the most interesting (subjectively) attacks on various electronic devices – from crypto wallets to AirTags
Maciej "Bonus" Szymański: How I lost 0.1 ETH due to fascination with a certain idol – social engineering through the eyes of victim and attacker

SZKOLENIA.SECURITUM.PL

DURATION: 2 days

sekurak HACKING PARTY

CPE/ECE points: 12

SECURITUM

SECURITUM